County Tax Rate Reduced 16 Cents

Los Angeles county's tax rate for the current year will be $1,1908 per $100 of assessed valuation, it was announced yesterday by County Supervisor Oscar Hauge. The Board expects to adopt this rate on Aug. 31. "This will make the fifth successive reduction in the county tax rate, something that has never before been accomplished in this county," Supervisor Hauge declared. "In 1938-39 the tax rate was $1.51 and each year since that date there has been a reduction. The State Legislature, by assuming a larger proportion of old-age pension costs, saved Los Angeles county taxpayers a total of $2,946,204, and this sum resulted in a tax rate reduction of 1 1/2 cents. The Board of Supervisors was able to effect additional economies, with the result that the tax rate can be reduced another 4 1/2 cents, thus making a total reduction of 16 cents. "Last year's tax rate was $1,3489, and since the fiscal year 1927-28 there has been only one year in which the county tax rate was lower than the rate which will be adopted this year."
